PROFILE

Although I started my business life early, I worked in different business sectors such as food, industry, health and advertising in a short time. During this time, I took an active part in the management and production processes and gained significant experience. My interest and curiosity in the branch of art prepared me for my position. The globalization of each sector, coupled with the rapidly developing technology, maximizes my career goals.

I want to expand my target audience with languages such as English, Spanish and Russian that I can speak. By blending the practices and ways of thinking of communities with different cultures, I take firm steps forward by creating works that I think could be more universal.
