Summary

A Free Software and Linux loving backend developer. Mostly using Python/Django on the professional environment. Also develops on Go and some small Lua projects.

I've been using Linux as my main OS since 2005. Around 2012 I started to use it on professional environment and since then, my Linux knowledge always helped me. For this reason, beside programming I also have server management experience too. Because of that, I might think DevOps as a career path for my future, but currently I'm happy with backend development.

My python knowledge starts right after when I started using Linux. But it stayed at basic level till my highschool years, After started university, I began to mess with Django and around 2014-2015 started to get freelance jobs.

I also love learning new technologies that I find interesting like Go or think that I might need it, like how Wayland works. Also if what I'm doing needs something I don't know, this is an enough reason for me to learn that as fast as possible. Thanks to that, I know Lua really well and have a some level of understanding of Assembly.

Göktuğ ile aynı şirkette çalışmadık ancak beraber geliştirdiğimiz ortak projelerimiz oldu. Kendisi eksik olduğu noktaları hızlıca fark edip bunları olabildiğince hızlı bir şekilde kapatmaya gayret eden, ekip içerisinde kendisinin ve diğer ekip arkadaşlarının neler yapabileceğini kestirebilen biridir.
