

Mehmet Deniz Kumcu

Back End Developer

ABOUT ME

I started programming in 2015 with javascript. When I was coding discord bots with javascript then I started exploring the programming more afterwards. Then I started to learning HTML and CSS. Later, I learned C # and Arduino thanks to the robotic coding training of my school. Later on, I became interested in mobile programming and learned about Kotlin. I published an application I code with Kotlin in the Google Play Store. However, the application has been suspended by Google. Afterwards, I decided that I had to go on the a path and decided to become a BackEnd Developer. Then I started learning PHP since 2020.
